The Groezinger Legacy

The V Marketplace complex, originally known as the Groezinger Winery, was established in 1870 by German-born vintner Gottlieb Groezinger. One of the Valley's first wineries, the winery and family home occupied more than half of the 23-acre estate. It included a massive brick winery, a brandy distillery, a steam power plant, creamery, brick stables and barns, and a two-story mansion – now the one-story Groezinger Estate Room to the north of the shopping complex.

In 1966, it was almost lost to the wrecking ball for the price its antique bricks would bring on the salvage market. Reopened in 1968 as the Vintage 1870 specialty shop complex, it originally hosted a handful of shops and two small cafés. Over the past 45 years the buildings have undergone continuing restorations to carefully blend the character and charm of yesteryear with the conveniences of today.
